Background

In order to continue to qualify to receive funding under the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant, Wisconsin must submit a TANF state plan for FFY 2002 – FFY 2003 to the Administration for Children and Families no later than the close of the first quarter of the 2002 federal fiscal year (12/31/01). A DRAFT version of the plan has been completed and is available for review.

The draft 2002-2003 state plan embodies the state TANF program as framed by the federal Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (PRWORA), by subsequent federal TANF regulations, and by cumulative Wisconsin state legislation pertaining to Wisconsin Works (W-2) and related programs. The draft plan also reflects programmatic changes resulting from 2001 Wisconsin Act 16, the biennial budget act enacted on August 30, 2001.

The plan provides a general overview of the W-2 program and Wisconsin's other TANF programs. However, local agencies must continue to use the W-2 Manual and other official DWD/DWS informational releases for all program guidance.

Content of the Plan

Under the PRWORA, states must have a plan that outlines how they intend to conduct a TANF program that provides assistance to needy families and provides parents with job preparation, work and support services to enable them leave the program and become self-sufficient. With the exception of Safety Services and Child Welfare Prevention Services, Wisconsin will provide TANF-funded services to needy families at or under 250 percent of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL) with the level of services outlined in the plan, varying according to income and assets. For those two programs that fall under the fourth purpose of the TANF program (i.e., encouraging the formation and maintenance of two-parent families), there are no income limits in place.

As required, the plan includes the assurances under section 402(a)(2)-(7) of the PRWORA related to conducting a program that, among other things: 1) provides parents with job preparation, work and support services to enable them to leave the program and become self-sufficient; 2) establishes goals and takes action to prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies, with special emphasis on teenage pregnancies; and 3) provides education and training on the problem of statutory rape so that teenage pregnancy prevention programs may be expanded in scope to include men. We consulted with the Department of Health and Family Services (DHFS) in developing the portions of the assurances related to prevention and reduction of out-of-wedlock pregnancies and education and training related to statutory rape.

As in the current plan, we have grouped the program descriptions by whether they are federal TANF programs, segregated state TANF programs, or separate state programs. We have also revised the Maintenance of Effort chart to reflect the program breakdown that will be in effect for FFY 2002 – FFY 2003.
